

HER LONG TONGUE HAD HER EVICTED

She Didn't Get Out, Though,
Before She Had Given the Landlord Discomfort.

Mrs. Mark Murphy, of No. 150 Sixteenth street, Jersey City, holds the time-honored doctrine that whom God has joined together, no man, not even a fearsome landlord, has a right to put asunder. Mrs. Murphy told that part of her belief to Police Judge Frank J. Higgins, of Jersey City. Likewise she told it to Henry Blume, sixty-three years old, of No. 150 Sixteenth street, Jersey City, with her fists, and as a result Mrs. Murphy is now under bonds to keep the peace.

Blume owns the Sixteenth street property. Early this month he ordered the Murphys out. John Murphy, the husband, met Blume in the hall.

"What are you putting us out for?" he demanded.

"I have nothing against you," said Blume, "but your wife has too long a tongue. You're a gentleman."

That explanation satisfied Mr. Murphy, but it didn't satisfy his wife. She met Blume later in the hall, and as a result of the interview the landlord had her arrested on a charge of assault and battery.

"I didn't hit him," said Mrs. Murphy in court. "He told my husband tales about me. I am a decent married woman, and he has no right to come between me and my husband. Matrimony is a holy sacrament, and what God has put together no man has a right to try and put asunder."

Judge Higgins made no comment on this little contention.

"I will put you under bonds to keep the peace," he said.

RINGS AND PINS FOR GRADUATES

Brides, Too, and Voyagers
Drawing on Excellent Stock of Lambert Brothers.

As this month is as full of commencement days as is a Christmas pudding, so the business of supplying glass rings and pins for happy graduates keeps jewelers busy. Some of the most novel and interesting designs for those mementos of school life come from Lambert Brothers, whose store at Third avenue, corner of Fifty-eighth street, is almost as busy now as during the winter holiday season.

Spreading of the tastes of the firm's student customers, a representative of the house said.

"Our young friends are very exacting, but we know how to please them, which is one reason for our receiving orders from the same schools year after year, besides selling class pins and class rings to institutions with which we haven't dealt before. Our experience is that customers, when our work satisfies in their school days, stick to us tight all along."

Class rings are solid gold, sometimes plain and sometimes set with precious stones. The pins are solid gold, or sterling silver, either plain gold or with enamel.

The pretty fashion of presenting graduates with gifts of jewelry is growing. Lambert Brothers are called upon to supply them. They are not generally expensive, for the firm manufactures most of its own stock and therefore does not have to pay middlemen's profits. Such a system is an obvious benefit to buyers, since it enables them to obtain really fine jewelry at low prices.

Altogether June is a great month for wedding rings and jewelry, since it is the month of weddings, as well as commencements. Besides, the custom of making bon voyage gifts helps to keep Lambert Brothers' salesmen busy.

The store is open daily during June until 6:30 and Saturday nights until 10. During July and August it closes every evening at 4, including Saturdays.

Catering to Public Demand!

The organ-grinder has learned how willing people are to give up money for things that please them—even for a "tune" that leaves one's home quite as empty as it found it.

Many men prefer dollars to pennies and, realizing the great public demand for all sorts of household and office furniture and fixtures, find ready sale for such articles through The World's Want Directory.
